2017 OpHeart Gala

March, 2017 (Houston, Tx) CardioAccess is pleased to continue its support for the non-profit organization, OpHeart, in their efforts to help benefit families with children who have critical congenital heart defects or CCHD. OpHeart just recently held their second annual Gala to help raise awareness and resources that "helps provide pediatric care teams with the tools they need and give families the support to make the best choices for their heart warriors." 2017's OpHeart Gala proved again to be a fun-filled night and a tremendous success, with prominent figures in the Texas Medical Center and Houston community in attendance. CardioAccess, a world leader in clinical information management for patients born with Congenital heart disease offers an ICO Database with an integrated

"Centripetus Web Portal ®" to analyze and report on key metrics for a particular specialty procedure. The Centripetus product allows for participation in multiple societal registries and enables national and regional benchmarking. CardioAccess will continue to closely work with OpHeart and other businesses in the congenital heart disease community to help the medical teams, hospitals, and above all, affected families in their search for treatments and cures.
